Big News

One Small Step For Community Science

Last week we mentioned we had three community science projects that are using our crowd-funding tool. The good news is we have had some small donations come through, but there's still plenty of work to be done!

How You Can Have an Impact

1. Give What You Can

Donations, however small, help each project towards their dream of implementing science for the good of their community. Consider donating to a project you believe in here.

2. Spread the News

The more people we reach, the better impact we will have. By using a template to email your colleagues you can share all three projects quickly and easily!

3. Give us a Re-tweet

For the next few weeks, we will be having a "Project in the Spotlight" campaign on Twitter! Every other day, each project will have its own space on @thrivingearth under the hashtag #makesciencework. All you need to do is re-tweet! Easy peasy!
